4. Page 6, Sec. 104, para 3(A) line 10: Add the following sentence: "Preferences or special arrangements that are required by the conditions established pursuant to section 606 to meet the national security concerns or the international obligations of the United States shall be deemed non-discriminatory."

Rationale: To ensure that there is no inconsistency between the requirements arising from national security concerns or international obligations on the one hand and the bill's prohibitions against discriminatory treatment of customers, on the other.
